CRUISE ON THE LOVE BOAT

The Love Boat is offering a new culinary destination.

Princess Cruises, known for one of its ships being the setting for "The Love Boat" television series, has partnered with Fort Myers-based chocolate chef Norman Love to create a range of special treats.

LOVE

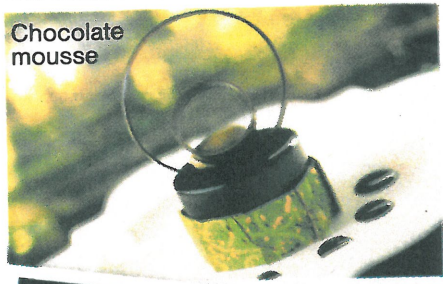

Love's creations will debut this fall on the new Regal Princess on her inaugural Caribbean season and will roll out to the Princess fleet throughout 2015. Chef Love himself trained the cruise ship pastry teams to create what Princess is calling "Chocolate Journeys."

The chocolate creations range from a chocolate pistachio dome served in the main dining room to chocolate "love pop" truffles handed out at the ship captain's welcome reception. Offerings also include chocolate-based treatments in the spa and chocolate-chile margaritas in the bar.

Of course, Norman Love assortments will be on sale inside the onboard shops.
