Everybody loves chocolate. Some call it an aphrodisiac, and some hail its miraculous qualities. Chocolate, especially dark, is purportedly good for the heart, skin and soul, and just tastes pretty damn good. So what if you could experience enjoy some masterful chocolate creations onboard a dreamy luxury cruise, drifting along great seas against the backdrop of gorgeous sceneries?

In a simply decadent combination, Princess Cruises has collaborated with famed master chocolatier Norman Love to bring you a taste of this highest indulgence. "Chocolate Journeys" is the line's new onboard chocolate experience, featuring artisan chocolates, custom desserts and the most lavish chocolate bites yet, created by the internationally acclaimed chocolatier. Love, who launched Norman Love Confections in 2001, has since made it to the top 10 chocolatiers in North America for making "the best ultra-premium chocolates in the nation." Also, what's a good chocolate without some wine pairings on the side? Guests can expect plenty of that onboard the Princess Cruises too.

Love said, "What could make people smile more than savoring decadent chocolate creations while enjoying their cruise vacation? I think we have a winning combination."

Featuring a competent pastry team trained specially by the master chocolatier himself, guests onboard the Princess Cruises can expect to indulge in a wide assortment of experiences, including a rotation of 15 ultra-posh chocolate dessert designs in the ship's main dining rooms, a welcome glass of bubbly with Love's signature "Chocolate Love Pop" truffles, Chocolate Petits Fours at Formal Night and an aromatic chocolate spa.

Also, if you decide that you have fallen in love with Love's creations, Norman Love Renowned Boxed Chocolates are available onboard the ship for you to take home.
